

Distributor of the Year Nomination 2025

Sub•Zero Cove Wolf Pine Brook, NJ; submitted by Renée Rewiski, executive director, NJNARI

The Sub•Zero showroom in Pine Brook, NJ has been supportive of the North Jersey Chapter of NARI for many years but 2024 was exceptional.

Kimberly Little, outside rep for Sub•Zero, has served as the president of the NJNARI Chapter for the past two years with full support of the company.

Showroom Manager Laurie Antosy opens the showroom for the chapter twice a year to host meetings. The 2025 RotY Awards dinner was hosted by Sub•Zero, who offered their chef to cook a sit-down dinner served to the guests. Often the dinners are buffet and self-service, but the Awards dinner attendees were served arugula salad, loin of beef and apple crisp. Gift bags presented by NJNARI included a mug with coffee, tea and hot chocolate. Sub•Zero provided the presentation bags with a wooden serving board, shears, and imported olive oil.

Once a year, Sub•Zero provides a CEU meeting to assist the certified members to meet their renewal needs.

And to provide a more professional newsletter than the chapter printer can produce, Sub•Zero has printed the chapter newsletter for the past two year.

NARI Distributor of the Year Nomination

I would like to nominate Sub-Zero for Distributor of the Year award. Sub-Zero has been instrumental in supporting the North Jersey NARI chapter by providing a location to host chapter meetings and recently our RotY Awards dinner at their Pine Brook location. Sub-Zero has held events with other organizations so we can meet other professionals in the remodeling business and build relationships. Kimberly Little, Sub-Zero, outside trade rep., Laurie Antosy, showroom manager, and Chef Ann Marie, have been very supportive of the remodeling and building industry and helping to promote education through CEU programs and hands-on demonstrations.

Kimberly Little was a NJ NARI chapter board member and most recently the chapter president for 2 years. Promotional materials and newsletters printing were graciously donated by Sub-Zero to help the chapter lower their print expenses.

Sub-Zero has been good for the community. They have hosted holiday parties with hands on demonstrations and special events with guest speakers. It is important that we are all brought together outside of our work lives to have a work life balance.

Beyond financial and material support, Sub-Zero has been fostering valuable partnerships. Their team's dedication to our cause has gone beyond simple collaboration. They have actively engaged in problem-solving and advocacy, ensuring that our chapter remains resilient and maintaining membership or working on growing it.

David Caputo

G&L and Sons Renovations, LLC

(973) 857-3553